Sweet score

 BoloNui

I've been really impressed with the Sony WH-1000XM5. The noise cancelling is awesome for movies around the house and they're also great for office use when you need to focus. I picked mine up second hand in near-new condition and they've been 100% worth it. I think they'd be perfect for long-haul flights in business class with a lay-flat seat setup. My only real downside is they can feel a bit bulky in a window seat in economy when you're trying to lean against the wall or get comfortable. Besides that, sound quality, comfort, and noise cancelling are all top tier.

The Sony WH-1000XM5 headphones are honestly one of the best premium headphones you can buy. The noise cancelling is excellent and blocks out most background noise, which makes them perfect for travelling, studying, commuting, or just relaxing. The sound quality is clear, rich, and balanced, with strong bass that does not overpower the vocals. They are also very comfortable to wear for long periods because the ear cushions feel soft and lightweight. The battery life is great, and the fast charging is really useful when you are in a rush. The design looks clean, modern, and expensive, giving them a very premium feel. The microphone quality is also good for calls, and the touch controls make it easy to change volume, skip songs, or pause music. Overall, the Sony WH-1000XM5...

Impressive!

 William7777

I bough this pair of headphones soon after they came out back in 2022 and I have been happy with them ever since...! The noise cancelling is excellent and the quality is very good once you adjust the sound with the equalizer.
